

Puerto Rico's Act 20 and Act 22 Tax Incentives—the Best Haven for Americans

by Nick Giambruno (/authors/nick-giambruno), Senior Editor

Welcome to Puerto Rico—a 3,000-plus square-mile tax haven where US residents can enjoy zero capital gains tax and tax-free dividends on their investments and business distributions (Act 22).

And business owners can reduce their corporate income tax rate, which in many cases runs around 50% in the US (combined state and federal income tax) to just 4% (Act 20). That's an over 90% reduction.

The fact is... Puerto Rico's Act 20 and Act 22 tax incentives provide competitive benefits for US citizens that are not available anywhere else in the world. So now US citizens don't have to renounce their citizenship and move to a more tax-friendly country to enjoy enormous tax benefits.

If you are new to Puerto Rico's tax incentives, start with the free video below.

America's Tax-Free Zone Video

This timely, free documentary-style video presents readers with a valuable solution to their increasing tax burden. In the video, top financial experts Doug Casey, Peter Schiff, and hedge fund manager John Paulson talk about the current US tax situation that's driving record numbers of Americans to renounce their citizenship and move elsewhere. And they present a viable alternative, Puerto Rico, where you can enjoy enormous tax incentives without giving up your US citizenship.
